

Being able to screen, offer, setup, and manage payment plans is a critical function, and one that is growing in importance due to the rising costs of healthcare.

Institutions often either staff a call center to answer patient questions and set up plans, or they contract with an early-out style vendor to manage the process. Both are costly and not always very effective.

With Redde, you can automate and simplify the process that allows your patients to easily setup and manage their own payment plans within your specific parameters. When they do, patients are having a better experience managing it on their own, and institutions are getting paid more and faster than ever before.

You have a
Past Due Invoice.

Sorry 'bout that.
Can I pay online?

Sorry, but no. Best way
is to send us a check.
