

Every EMR deployment isn't the same, and every integration shouldn't be either.

Before we even start to build out our interfaces, Wixcorp helps our clients do a comprehensive review into what systems, processes, and people are involved in the patient's financial journey. Then we look to see how the patient experiences that journey.

Utilizing our systemic approach, with only minimal effort on your part, we can build out a custom interface that meets your exact business processes and IT capabilities.

No matter how your IT ecosystem is set up, Redde can be as real-time and customized as you and your patients need it to be.
